

There's a lot more to your water bill than just water.

When you turn on the tap, it's easy to see what your water bill buys. What's not as easy to see is what it takes to bring that water to your home. The facilities that draw water from rivers, lakes and wells. The miles of pipeline that are constantly replaced and upgraded. The plants where your water is treated and tested. The scientists, engineers and maintenance crews working day and night to make sure that it's always there when you need it. And every time you make a water payment, you help make it all possible.

Water: Quality, care and value delivered in every drop.

Ready, Set, Paint...

Pennsylvania American Water is conducting its 14th annual Protect Our Watersheds Art Contest. Open to fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade students in schools served by Pennsylvania American Water—and to individual students who live in the company’s service area—the contest encourages students to draw on their artistic talents to convey the importance of protecting Pennsylvania’s watersheds and water resources.

By participating, students will not only learn about the value of our precious water resources, but they also have the chance to win great prizes and earn positive recognition for their school!

DEADLINE FOR ENTRIES: MARCH 31

All entries must be postmarked by March 31, 2017. Students’ artwork will be judged by a panel of Pennsylvania American Water representatives. Winners will be selected based on their artistic talent and ability to communicate their understanding of watershed protection through their artwork and a short essay.

“It is refreshing to see students using their imagination and creativity to express the need to protect our watersheds. We’ve found that the contest helps them better understand the importance of environmental stewardship.”

Kathy L. Pape, President,
Pennsylvania American Water
